FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Account of the First Meeting Held at Windfall.

MANY INTERESTING TALKS.

Lecturers Give Results of Their Personal Experiences in the Raising of Crops and Care of Farm Animals. Digests of Addresses.

The Farmers' institute at Windfall, commencing Jan. 4 at 1:30 p. m., and continuing five session, closing on the fifth at 10 p. m., under the direction of E. E. Chubbuck as manager of farmers' institutes for Bradford county, was well attended and much interest was manifested in the desire for instruction in the lines of agriculture presented.

In behalf of the farmers of the vicinity, William B. Packard welcomed the directors, instructors sent by the board of agriculture and all visitors. His remarks were timely and appreciated by all. The chairman, E. E. Chubbuck, responded in a brief, hearty way.

J. H. Peachy of Mifflin county, in discussing "Success With Clover," said in brief: "Something is not altogether right when the farmer cannot raise clover. Drainage may be needed always and a little lime may be all sufficient to sweeten the soil so as to produce an abundant crop. Sow clover seed when the ground is honeycombed by the frost. If the seed is not well covered it is in danger of being killed by drought. The weeder or smoothing harrow may be used when needed to aid in seed protection. If timothy be sown with clover, always use the mammoth clover. It ought to pay to sow clover for pasture. Clipping clover in the fall clips all weeds and makes a better hay crop. In making clover hay, much care is needed but when the blossoms are fairly developed; when the dew is off; and when there is a prospect of two days' fine weather run over it with tedder and use great care in curing it. The farmer who cannot make his farm better by raising clover has no business on the farm and should seek some other calling.

Dr. I. A. Thayer of New Castle, Pa., says in his talk on "Strawberry Culture:" The first and best friut of the year is the strawberry. It is a profitable fruit to raise and sell for it is at least 90 per cent water, four per cent sugar and a little something else, and I get more than four dollars per bushel for my berries. The best soil to raise them on is a good quality of clay loam. To the amateur it is advisable to say, put your soil into the best possible condition. Plant potatoes and give them thorough cultivation. After the potatoes sew crimson clover and turn it under and sow rye and vetch. Get as much humus into the ground as you can and then give fair preparation. Set out about 34 varities and test them thoroughly, selecting early, medium early, medium late and late so as to make the season as long as you can. Three years' experience will very much improve the amateur. Use a sharp hoe to cut the runners.

L. W. Lighty's talk on "The Value, Care and Application of Farm Manure" was listened to with interest, each knowing full well that his bank account is regulated by economy in this direction. Frequent quotations of analysis given by experimental stations were referred to and much valuable information given.

After the introductory exercises at the Wednesday evening session, Mrs. L. A. Roberts read an excellent paper on "The work of the W. C. T. U. on Temperance." She says: "The cider drinker or the cigarette smoker can compete with others of equal capacity. If as much care were taken for John as for old Jersey the world would be the better for it."

Dr. Thayer gave a very excellent paper on "The Importance of Nature Study." As a physician of 30 years experience his aim was always to help nature. He gave many practical hints as to how benefit the child by nature study.

Mr. Lighty, who has had many years of experience as a teacher, spoke on "The Education of Our Boys and Girls." He deprecated the fact that the teachers at present were mostly boys and girls instead of men and women and gave substantial reasons for the centralization of schools. Albert M. Connell lecturer of the Pennsylvania State grange, spoke of the unity of the farmers' institutes and the grange.

Thursday Morning.

J. H. Peachy discussed "Care of Farm Animals," saying many cows take the care of themselves, roaming at their will. In speaking of the horse he says it is a bad thing for an idle horse to be left standing in the stable after the hard work of early Spring. It is far better to pull off his shoes and turn him out and feed him less than when at work. He had better run out in winter but under some protection of the inclemency of the weather. Clip the horse and you will have less trouble with him during Spring work. If kept in a warm stone basement he is liable to take cold if he has a long coat of hair which becomes wet with perspiration when at work. At least always clip the shoulders in the Spring. The farm horses corn has been my principal feed but oats are more desirable for the road horse. The farm horse and road horse are used for different purposes and require different care. Wheat is good for the horse and can be fed at advantage when not high in price. Good clover hay is better for a farm horse than timothy is. Water the horse first, then feed hay and then the grain, is my rule.

L. W. Lighty gave a talk on "The Farm Cow and How to Make Her Profitable." A cow for profit in the dairy must not be a beefy cow. Always weigh the milk of each cow and test it with a Babcock test. Then you may know whether you have cows that do not pay to keep. A good dairy cow is nervous so it is essential to handle here quietly and never allow anything to occur to excite her. I have known the test of a whole herd to be diminished one half by the admission of a couple of dogs to the cow stable just before milking. If you have a mean neighbor give him the cow that does not test high enough to pay her keeping but say nothing about the test. Don't keep the cow in a jail (starchion) but in a box stall and always clean. Let her surroundings be clean, and be sure that cobwebs which are sure to be filled with bacteria, be swept away whenever they appear. Milk kept in the barn twenty-four hours will not produce good butter. The milk should not be allowed to remain in the barn but be taken to where there is no oder from the barn.

Dr. Thayer says that if the farmers were to return to the farm all that is produced on it, it would be kept up. Crimson clover adds to the fertility by gathering nitrogen from the air and so do all leguminaus plants. This well understood and there should be no nitrogene bought for farm crops. Clover production will supply the nitrogen needed. Seed production needs phosphoric acid and when needed may be supplied.

Afternoon Session.

Peachy on "Hogs for Profit" says breed from mature stock. Feed the pig for bone and muscle. The hog is a growing animal and does well on clover. The best quantity of pork is produced on grasses. The hog for profit is one of early maturity. When from 6 to 8 months old he ought to weigh from two hundred to two hundred and fifty pounds. Feed corn and water to finish up the fattening of a hog. Feed green corn whole, and hard corn after soaking. The Poland China hog produces more pork from less feed than others do.

Mr. Lighty says "Feeding tables prepared by the experiment stations are essential for the use of the dairyman and stockraisers."

Evening Session.

Dr. Thayer says: "In a home as it should be, the aim is health, happiness and heaven, and that the girls' education is not complete without the knowledge of the chemistry of the kitchen. In many country homes seven-eights of the air goes up the chimney and one-eighth into the room. A warm air heater is what is needed and may be furnished for $100.

J. H. Peachy gave an excellent talk on the "Inside of the Farmer's Home."

County Superintendent H. S. Putnam asks "Why do you plant corn? Why is it necessary to loosen the soil around it? He then says plants must have water and air. The simple elements of agriculture ought to be taught in the common schools. After giving his experience in "boarding around" etc., he said we can be either happy or miserable as we please; the best thing for our schools is centralization yet some farmers that have no children put up a great howl about it.

YOUNG COASTER KILLED ON CHESTNUT STREET.

Timothy O'Keefe's Sled Ran Into Express Company Bobs.

A distressing coasting accident happened in Towanda at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in which Timothy O'Keefe, the fifteen year old son of Benj. O'Keefe of State street lost his life. O'Keefe was riding down hill on Chestnut street. At the intersection of North Main and Chestnut he crashed with considerable force into the bobs of the United States express company.

It was seen that he was badly hurt but he walked into the house of Ernest Rockwell nearby. Dr. D. L. Pratt was sent for but the boy was dead before he arrived. His injuries were entirely internal.

The deceased was an usually bright boy and a nice fellow as his school companions described him. He was to have graduated from the St. Agnes parochial schools the coming Spring. Burgess Pratt had forbidden riding down the Chestnut hill the previous night and since the fatal accident of Tuesday he has given orders to the police to arrest anyone riding past the intersection of any streets.

RUSSIANS AND JAPS.

Dr. Yatman Talks From Personal Knowledge of Both.

EFFECT OF OUTCOME OF WAR.

Character of the Japs as Compared With That of the Russian—Jap the Smartest but Not the Possessor of as Good Morality.

While talking with Rev. Dr. C. H. Yatman concerning plans for some of the meetings of the revival services being held at the Methodist church the conversation between him and a representative of this paper drifted into a discssion of the Russo-Japanese war. Dr. Yatman was reading an account of the terms of surrender at Port Arthur when the Daily Review man came into the room.

"Well the Japs have at last got Port Arthur," said Mr. Yatman, "but it has taken them longer than they expected. But the Jap in unflinching in face of death. He loves his country and is intensely patriotic. What the outcome of this war will be can only be conjectured but it seems as though Russia must win in the end. It is almost a parallel with the English-Boer war in which the Boer farmers held the trained Tommy Atkins at bay for months. But the lion finally won by force of men and equipment.

"Whatever the outcome of the war, whether it is a Russian or a Jap victory, I cannot but think that it will result tremendously to Russia's ultimate benefit. It will awaken her to a new era in progress. It has already resulted in greater liberty of the press and will end in sweeping Russia into a wave of reform, giving her people liberties and resulting in uplifting her peasant class.

"I admire the Russian. He is a big, manly fellow and brave as a lion. He is not as smart as the Jap but I think he is more honest. The Jap has absorbed everything in sight in the way of progress but he has not yet learned business or social morality. There is nothing conceivable worse than the red light district in Japan's cities. In business they seem devoid of conscience. The American Tobacco company has found this out and now demand that 25 per cent shall be paid by a Japanese when he orders goods and then the goods are sent C. O. D. This is because the Jap would order goods and if the market fell off in the two months' trip to Japan he would refuse to take them. Then they would be put up at auction and he would bid them in at a mere song.

"The Japs are so dishonest that they do not trust themselves. In many of their stores it is a Chinaman who sits at the cashier's desk. If a Jap fails or has done some deed for which he may be punished, his friends may intimate to him that he had better fix things. This means that the Jap will take a knife and rip open his bowels, dying without a murmur of complaint. The Jap is mystical in his religion and the temples are well patronized by those having diseases.

"As you enter these temples you see a figure representing Buddha. If one has anything to ask of the God he first makes an offering. Then if he has a headache he rubs the head of the image, then his own head. If he has a stomach ache he rubs the idol's stomach and then his own. If he has the eye ache or tooth ache the same process is gone through with. Like the man who loses his toothache on the steps of the dentist no doubt relief is procured in this manner. I have never yet heard, however, of this sort of mental treatment giving new new sets of teeth or a new pair of eyes," laughed Dr. Yatman.

"I believed the Czar means to do well but he is a weak man among his ministers. He has a grand wife and she has a powerful influence for good with him. On the occasion of the birth of her third child, the Czar asked her what she most would like as a present. After a few days' consideration she said: 'More religious tolerance throughout the kingdom.' The Czar really tried to do this but so strong is the hold of the Greek church that it was of no avail."

Dr. Yatman has travelled extensively in all the countries that he speaks of and is a great believer in travel as an educator for any one who wishes to arrive at right conclusions. He thinks that this country has swung way off on the Russo-Japanese war and while he likes the industry of the Jap he cannot but sympathize with the cause of the old friend of the United States, Russia, although in this struggle she was doing something which she ought not to have done, trying to take a slice of land that was not hers.

Herbert B. Cook and Miss Bertha Wells, both of Waverly, were married at that place on Jan. 4 by Rev. M. S. Goodshall. Both parties have many friends in Towanda who will extend congratulations.

PITTSBURG, BINGHAMTON & EASTERN ROAD WINS OUT.

Appelate Court Grants Road Exclusive Rights in New York State.

The Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern railroad has won a decided victory in New York state by the decision of the appelate court, news of which was received here on Jan. 4 by telegraph, to the effect that that court had unanimously sustained the P. B. & E. charter and gives that road exclusive rights along its line in New York state.

F. A. Sawyer of Towanda, who is president of the P. B. & E. in an interview with a representative of this paper a few days ago, said that as soon as this matter was disposed of by the appelate court that the work of construction on the line from Binghamton to Ansonia would begin at once.

The news just received has a more interesting bearing than at any time in the history of the road. Just at present activity is reported on the New York, Pennsylvania & Southwestern road, running from Binghamton by way of Wyalusing to Williamsport. The latter road has not yet secured its New York state charter and the exclusive rights granted the P. B. & E. in New York state would indicate that the Wyalusing road could not build a parallel line into Binghamton. It could, however, run into Binghamton if it could make connections with some other road this side of the New York state line.

The line proposed by the P. B. & E. would be one of the most beneficial events that could occur in Bradford county. It would give the western section of the county a direct way of reaching the other parts without coming roundabout as at present. The Susquehanna & New York road made a big improvement for people of Troy, Canton and intermediate points wishing to reach the county seat but the P. B. & E. would be even more advantageous. That the P. B. & E. will at once begin active work on construction will be the wish of every resident of this section this morning.

DUG MAN OUT.

John Bogart Buried Under Bushels of Dirt at Waverly.

While John Bogart was digging a well on Center street at Waverly on Tuesday afternoon of last week, the earth gave way and 20 feet of soil buried Bogart beneath it. A fire alarm was sounded and the firemen began at once to get the man out. His groans could be heard and a hundred of men set to work to bring relief to the entombed man.

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock Bogart was rescued and was still alive in spite of his awful experience in the well. A matrix of earth had formed around his body, thus preventing him from an avalanche of dirt. The affair caused a great deal of excitement at Waverly and it was thought that Bogart could never be gotten out alive.

Many gave up but two men continued at digging until they heard the man's voice. They kept at work and finally Bogart called out to them that he was injured slightly but was getting enough air from the pipes of the well near which his face was caught. Finally after digging as close to his body as was safe, the men went at the dirt with hands and fingers and Bogart finally wriggled loose from the debris and emerged into daylight. He was in the cavein just 17 hours.

L. V. PROSPECTS.

But Little New Work Will Be Undertaken This Year.

President Thomas is authority for the statement that the L. V. will undertake little new work this year. He says that the road is now in the market for twenty locomotives, and 1,000 new box cars will be delivered within the next month. No changes in the official list are contemplated at this time, and the annual meeting, which will be held in Philadelphia January 17th, is expected to endorse the present management. Some little disappointment has been shown because the dividend declared was not two and one-half per cent instead of two per cent, thus putting the company's stock on a five per cent basis. But the more conservative shareholders approve the action of the board, realizing that the increase is certain to come and that its delay will only strengthen the company.

Dalton Found Guilty.

The case of the Commonealth vs. John Dalton, the young man charged with forging operations at Athens and Sayre, went to the jury on Tuesday about noon. After being out several hours they returned a verdict of guilty on all three indictments, but recommended Dalton to the mercy of the court in two of the cases. District Attorney Mills appeared for the prosecution and S. H. Smith and David E. and Morgan S. Kaufman for the defendant.

Sullivan—Ward.

Joseph S. Sullivan, a well known Lehigh Valley conductor, and Mrs. Mary Ward, both of Sayre, were married at the Baptist parsonage at Waverly on Tuesday evening of last week by Rev. G. A. Briggs.

IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Bradford Countians and Others Engaged in Lumbering.

PLANTS AND THEIR OUTPUTS.

Correspondent Sends This Paper Interesting Account of Operations There—How Towns Spring Into Life.

This paper is in receipt of the following letter from Glady, West Virginia, concerning the big lumber operations in that section and in which some Bradford county men and many employes are interested:

Gladys, W. Va., Jan. 1, 1905.
To the Editors of The Review:

One year and a half ago, Lewis Brothers & Stone of LeRoy, Bradford county, came to West Virginia and started into the lumber business. At that time there were only two houses in the place and they were old structures. The railroad was not completed then and they had to haul about all their stuff in by wagon. They started their log railroad and clearing off for their mill site. Now they have seven miles of log road and a town of some 20 houses. They are still extending their railroad into their timber. They brought a number of men with them and some of them are still here. About two miles north of this firm there is a mill run by Morrison & Bell which has been erected since their arrival and the C. & I. railroad has been completed. A mile south of Morrison & Bell, the Rumbarger Lumber company have erected a 75-thousand band mill and are going to start the first of this year.

About two miles southwest of the Lewis Brothers mill, the Wheeler Lumber company are erecting a 50-thousand band mill and their timber and their lumber will come out over the Lewis Brothers road. Right in sight of the Lewis Brothers' mill the Glady Lumber company are operating a shingle and saw mill and have a town of ten houses. A new station called Glady is built and there are two new hotels and two restaurants, two barber shops, a dentist and three doctors there. All this has been done inside of a year and a half. The Lewis Brothers' mill has an output of 40,000 feet per day, Morrison & Bell 50,000, Rumbergar company 75,000, Wheeler company 50,000, Glady Shingle company 30,000.

Campbell Brothers, contractors for Lewis Brothers, are operating their mill and logging for them and employ about 100 men. They have made some very modern improvements such as machine lathe, wood turning lathe, electric light plant, several new houses which are all lighted by electric lights, a new telephone, a big company boarding house and store. The railroad constructors have a hand car which they use to go to and from their work. The other day the car jumped the track and threw the men right and left. Two of the men are well known in Pennsylvania, Fay Sayles, who was hurt about the back but not seriously, and James Johnston who had his collar bone broken.

On Monday, after Christmas, E. D. Bullock, also of Pennsylvania, was coupling the log engine to a truck load of ties and wasc aught between the tender of the engine and the ties. He was painfully squeezed but was not seriously injured.

Powers—Fosburg.

Albertus Powers and Miss Martha Fosburg, both of Smithfield, were married Thursday evening by Rev. G. A. Briggs in Waverly.

NEWS OF THE BINGHAMTON WILLIAMSPORT RAILROAD.

New Field Engineer Engaged and Italians Put to Work.

"Charles E. Webster, of South Bethleham, formerly chief engineer of the Lehigh Valley railroad, is now in Binghamton for the purpose of taking an active part in pushing the work on the New York, Pennsylvania and Southwestern railroad, says the Binghamton Republican.

"He is now in consultation with chief engineer A. K. Harvey, of the N. Y., Pa., and S. W., and in the course of a few days they will take a trip over a portion of the route, after which Mr. Webster will look after the operations in the field and Mr. Harvey will superintend matters of construction from his office in this city.

"The building of the road has now developed to a point where there will be no more delay, but things are expected to go with a rush until the road is completed. There are now twenty men in the field making the last revision of the survey and inside of a week forty additional men will be placed on this work and every section of the route will be covered by a corps of engineers. In this connection Mr. Harvey stated last night that one corps of men would be put on the Montrose route or the route which the road would take if it should skip Binghamton, which Mr. Harvey says is quite possible.

"Although the matter has not by any means been decided, Mr. Harvey says there is no question but that the road could save money in construction cost by skipping this city. Several of the directors who live in New York and Philadelphia can see no good reason for coming to Binghamton."

Italians at Work.

Last week's Wyalusing Rocket says: "The first of the week Italian laborers began arriving in this place on every train over the Lehigh Valley to work on Allen, Donnelly & Co.'s contract for the building of the fifteen mile stretch of the proposed railroad between this place and Lawton—the first link in the road connecting Binghamton and Williamsport.

"All last week and the first of this week tools and machinery for handling dirt came to this place till upwards of twenty-five carloads arrived, and this week the men to handle these tools began to pour into the place. Arrangements had already been made to house the men near their work. These laborers were at once taken to these boarding houses and work on the contract has now begun in earnest."

Father and Husband.

John Vanderpool was brought before Justice Meredith on Tuesday night of last week on the charge of assault and battery and threats to kill. The complainant is Mrs. Vanderpool, who not only alleges that her husband threatened to kill her but also his own little child. Mr. Vanderpool will be given a hearing on Jan. 17. He says that there is nothing to the charge.

If one pound of corn is raised to each hill on an acre of ground the product will be fifty bushels. This would mean about two fair sized ears.

The largest peach produced this season is one raised in Missouri which measured thirteen inches in circumference and weighed one and a quarter pounds.

A strictly hardy winter apple, a hardy cherry and a hardy grape of large size and good quality would be invaluable discoveries for the people of all the prairie northwest.

The corn crop of 1904, while large—in fact, one of the largest ever produced—will all be used up before another crop is ready for market. The cribs of the country were all empty when the husking commenced.

Things are in bad shape in Ireland. The potato crop is almost a total failure, and blight has injured the barley and oats. It is a great pity that such a bright, quick witted and intelligent race should be doomed to seemingly perpetual poverty and misery.

One of our wise scientists is out with the theory that the cold waves which are such a marked feature of the climate of this country are responsible for the remarkable energy and get-up of the American people. If this be true, we would favor fewer waves and lessened energy.

In the south, in the cotton country, they always refer to the productiveness of the cotton fields as so many bales of cotton to the mule instead of giving the number of pounds per acre. This runs from four or five bales to the mule for a poor crop up to as high as eighteen bales for a big crop.

Where the most intensive type of agriculture is found in Europe there will be found the most poverty, not that such type of agriculture is the cause of the poverty, but because it has been compelled by overpopulation and the inability of the earth to furnish food for the people unless so treated. China and Japan are two other nations where this fact is very noticeable.

An interesting experiment is being tried in Texas with cattle. A firm there has imported from Burma, India, some of the large native Indian cattle, which are fawn colored, with enormous humps on their fore shoulders. These cattle are as large at six months old as the best of our American breeds are at one year old and are entirely immune from the various cattle pests which have so bothered the cattle growers of that state.

A very noticeable feature of the Iowa apple exhibit at the world's fair was the prominent place taken by the Northwestern Greening, an apple practically unknown in the state fifteen years ago. Its uniformly large size and its handsome appearance, combined with undisputed keeping quality of the best, are rapidly placing it in the very front rank as the coming winter apple for that state. The best of it is that it seems to be entirely hardy in all sections of the state. It should have a large place in all orchards to be planted in the future.

A man in Oklahoma had a large field of cotton which needed picking and could get no help to secure the crop. He went to town and interested a Sunday school of one of the churches which was seeking to raise a fund to purchase an organ for the school. He made an arrangement whereby about a hundred boys and girls with their teacher came out to his place for two days and helped him secure his crop, they earning more than enough money to get their organ. The news of their success soon came to other church organizations and in a short time all had made similar arrangements. A cotton crop which seemed destined to be wasted was thus secured with profit to the grower and also to the pickers.

It seems a pity that the best crop a man can raise on a good farm should be so perverted as to work the moral and financial ruin of the owner of the land. Here was Jones, a bright, industrious young fellow, who at the age of twenty-eight was left a 400 acre farm by his father, land easily worth $100 per acre. There was no earthly reason why Jones with this start should not have been a very prosperous and successful man, and he probably would have been if he had left three fingers of whisky alone, which may or may not have been made from the very corn which he raised on this very farm. The history of Jones from this point is an old, old story. He got to going to town about every day, coming home drunk and abusing his wife and family. He found it hard to get good men to work for him. It was not long until he had a good sized mortgage placed on the farm; his crops and stock, being neglected, were grown at a constant loss. In twelve years from the time that Jones and whisky were introduced to each other whisky had the farm, had killed the wife and left Jones a blear eyed, worthless wreck. There is nothing ahead of Jones now except the charity of friends and a pauper's funeral. This story is worth remembering because it is true.

MACARONI WHEAT.

The experimental growing of durum, or macaroni wheat, three years ago along the semiarid borders of the western states has developed into a tremendous success. It has resulted in the giving of that section an entirely new and very profitable cereal specially adapted to the peculiar climatic conditions. Millions of acres there can be made to produce from twenty to thirty bushels of this wheat per acre where wheat could not be made to grow before. This grain is handicapped to a certain extent by the prejudice of the milling interests and for this reason will only bring in the markets about four-fifths as much as the other hard wheats of the northwest country. It is expected that this discrimination will be overcome in time, as soon as the millers learn how to handle it successfully. This wheat makes the finest and most nutritious of bread and is the only variety which can be used for the manufacture of spaghetti, macaroni and other gluten foods. The excess of yield per acre over common wheat and the certainty of a good crop make the growing of this wheat on the cheap lands of the semiarid west a very attractive proposition in a financial way.

This man cut up his field of corn with a machine. He then husked it out of the shock by hand. This sort of business might be all right in New York or Pennsylvania, but is all wrong in the corn belt of the west. When corn is cut up—and it should be—it should be either fed in the bundle or shredded. A still better way would be to cut it up and put it into the silo.

An interesting discovery made by the experts of the agricultural department at Washington is that a weak solution of blue vitriol applied to the stagnant water in city reservoirs supplying waterworks will entirely destroy and remove all vegetable growth at an insignificant cost. It is one of the most important and valuable discoveries made by the department since its organization.

Where a man in any community of farmers has been able to raise from seventy to eighty bushels of corn to the acre on a twenty acre field there is no need of sending for a scientific corn expert to show the people how to raise corn. This man possesses knowledge of the greatest value to his neighbors, and he should be put on the stand at the institute and cross questioned like a witness.

There is an antidote or regulator for about every mean thing which bothers the agriculturist and fruit grower, if he can only find it out. Now the antidote for weeds is sheep; the sheep prefers weeds to grass as a ration, and where they are not kept the weeds have every advantage over the farmer. Sheep farms are invariably clean farms, and the sheep will pay its way entirely regardless of the price of wool or mutton simply as a weed destroyer.

A reader wishes to know if there is any good remedy for a disease which troubles him every winter in connection with rearing his fall calves—a scouring, which wastes them away and finally kills them in spite of the greatest care taken with their food. The blood meal prepared by the packing house companies has been found to be a very excellent antidote for this trouble and is well worth trying where this difficulty prevails. The meal and full directions for use can be obtained from the manufacturers.

More attention is being paid by the American people to the great possibilities connected with cultivating a small piece of land as an aid in the support of a family than ever before. The few have demonstrated what may be accomplished in this line, and many more want to try it. As a result there is being aroused a great popular interest in gardening, fruit culture, poultry raising. This is a good thing in two ways—it cheapens the cost of living, and the doing of this sort of work is always refining and elevating to the individual.

A friend of ours, living in a section where alfalfa always proved a failure owing to a lack of the needed bacterial inoculation of the soil, procured from the agricultural department at Washington a little vial containing the needed microbes, and, treating his seed as directed by the department, has been most pleasingly rewarded for his effort by now having a field of four acres of most thrifty alfalfa, the roots of which are well loaded with the well known nodules indicating the presence of the bacteria so essential to the life of the plant. If your experiments with alfalfa have so far resulted in failure, and so many have, try the plan outlined above. It is becoming fully recognized that failure with alfalfa is almost wholly chargeable to the absence of the indispensable bacterial life in the soil where it is sown.

The effort to combine both beef and butter production on the same farm makes more trouble than any other combination tried on our western farms. The line of cleavage between beef and butter is so very distinct, the interests of each so everlastingly at war with each other, that on all land worth $100 per acre we have come to believe a man's best interests would be conserved to select one or the other of these branches of farm industry and not attempt to combine them. The 300 pound cow (her butter product) is entirely possible with the exclusively dairy farm. Many can beat this with cows bred on strictly dairy lines, while the 1,200 pound two-year-old steer of the sort which brings the top of the market is equally possible with the beef grower working with beef breeds, but this steer can't be had from this 300 pound cow, and the chances are that his dam will never give more milk than just enough to give him a good start in life, if she does that. There is surely safe and good money working with the dairy cow as suggested. There may be in producing the beef, but as a business it is not nearly so reliable.

THE WORST WEEDS.

We are asked which are the worst weeds—the most destructive to crops and the most difficult of extermination. This depends upon localities. Through the grain raising sections of the northwest wild mustard and wild buckwheat, cockle and pigeon or barn grass make up a quartet of farm pests which cost the raisers of small grain millions yearly and which, under a grain raising regime, are almost impossible of extermination. Through the corn belt we have the pigeon grass, the bind weed, or morning glory, the cocklebur, the wild rosebush, purslane, the two first named being the omnipresent plague of all corn growers. In the eastern states the daisy, the wild sorrel and even the goldenrod are farm pests of a bad sort. Taking the country as a whole, there is probably no one weed which does so much damage or which is so widely distributed as our common barn grass, or foxtail or pigeon grass, as it is variously known. It infests every grainfield, and millions of acres of the best land of the country are so infected with the seed that, no matter how well cultivated may be the land, there is seed enough in the soil to last for twenty years. It thrives east and west, on wet land and dry land, is prolific as a codfish and destructive of other plant life as a June frost. The natural remedy for it, and, in fact, all the other weeds mentioned, is sheep, for where sheep run there weeds simply cannot grow, for the sheep won't let them.

A GREAT WORK.

Next to the Panama canal the most interesting and important factor in the future development of this country are the various irrigation schemes which are being projected under the irrigation laws passed by the last congress. A late report made by Mr. F. Newell, who is head of this new irrigation work, contains many very interesting facts. It shows that there is already the large sum of $27,000,000 available for the construction of irrigating works. Of this amount the sum of $3,000,000 each has been awarded to the states of Arizona, California and Nevada, while Colorado, Idaho, Oregon, South Dakota and Wyoming each get between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. When the works contracted for are completed a total of 1,332,000 acres of waste and desert land will be reclaimed and made the most productive land upon the American continent, and this work will be accomplished at a cost of from $25 to $40 per acre, most of it at about $30 per acre. The far reaching results which must inevitably grow out of this work can hardly be comprehended—the new homes, the new cities, the new industries. The very best results in an agricultural and horticultural way are associated with Providence providing perpetual sunshine and warmth and man regulating the waterworks.

A COSTLY HOAX.

One day last fall some housewife while preparing a cabbage for the family dinner discovered a hairlike worm among the outer leaves of the cabbage head, a parasitical belonging of the cabbage from time immemorial and one entirely harmless. She told the story to a country editor, who, eager for some new and sensational item for his paper, wrote an article with a scare head to the effect that this year the cabbage crop was infected with a new pest, a slender, white, snaky worm, poisonous in the highest degree. Other editors, equally crazy for sensational news, copied the article and in their varied manipulation of the story worked in several deaths which had been caused by eating the cabbages. Stories of this sort are always read and very quickly get in their work. The demand for cabbages all over the west almost entirely ceased. One of the largest and best crops of this esculent ever grown was rendered almost worthless, the loss in the states of Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa alone being conservatively placed at over half a million dollars. The fear and prejudice thus created are very hard to overcome, notwithstanding the best botanical and entomological authorities in the country have repeatedly certified that there was nothing new or harmful in the cabbage this year more than any other year. It is evident that some newspaper men need killing.

On the average 160 acre farm in Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas it is entirely possible to produce and market each year six good steers for beef in addition to the stock now carried on such farms by the use of a silo. These steers may be practically raised on silage and finished off with corn in the usual manner.

Colfax, Wash., is said to be the wealthiest town of its size in the United States, its 2,500 people having an average bank deposit of $845.47 per head.

A Notable Baptism.

Do modern records contain anything to equal the following entry in the parish register of Old Whittington, Derbyshire: "Thomas Ashton, son of Mr. Arthur and Mrs. Jane Bulkeley, was baptized July 1, 1744. Godfathers: Edward Downs, esq., great-great-great-great-uncle; Dr. Charles Ashton, great-great-great-great-uncle; Joseph Ashton, gent., great-great-great-great-uncle. Godmothers: Mrs. Wood, great-great-great-great-aunt; Mrs. Wainwright, great-great-grandmother; Mrs. Green, great-grandmother. Registered at the request of Joseph Ashton of Landon, gent., who nominated the godfathers and godmothers, believing they are not to be paralleled in England."

A Snowball a Year.

One of the queer rents paid to the English crown is by the well known Foulis family. This family holds a forest, and the rental of the forest is the delivery of a snowball any day it is asked for. Always the Foulis family must have a snowball ready. It is no trouble to them, either, for Ben Wyvis, a mountain of great height, is in the forest, and the top is always covered with snow.

The Japs as Soldiers.

Many prominent military men of Europe and America have expressed the opinion that the Japanese are the best of soldiers. This assertion may be somewhat exaggerated, but still their wonderful showing in the war with Russia prove them to be well trained and courageous. The wonderful cures made by the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters during the past 50 years prove it to be the most reliable family medicine in the world for indigestion, biliousness, general debility, kidney and liver troubles, female disorders, chills, colds or malaria. We urge you to try a bottle today and test it for your own satisfaction, also to get a copy of our 1905 Illustrated Almanac from your druggist. It is free and contains much instructive reading matter.

In the home, at Sayre, in which she was the eldest of four generations with her daughter, her grandson and great grandson at her bedside, Mrs. D. M. Clearwood died Saturday morning at the age of 94 years. Her only suriving relatives are those surrounding her death bed.

She and her daughter were living with her grandson, Miles Goodyear and his son a 3-months-old baby is the fourth generation. The funeral was held at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. I. W. Bingham officiating.

Electric Freight Lines.

The advances made by electric traction lines are graphically described by Mr. George Iles, author of that remarkable book, "Flame, Electricity and the Camera," in an article written for the January Magazine Number of The Outlook. Mr. Iles describes and shows by pictures trolley, buffet, parlor, mail, express and freight cars; and even sleeping cars are not unknown. The West is far ahead of the East in local electric railway development. A line from Dayton, Ohio, to Piqua, for instance, shows how interurban traffic may be managed as to freight.

The wonderful adventures of a woman revolutionist in Russia, fiction, articles on men of the hour, editorial comment and choice poetry make up an exceptionally fine number.

G. A. R. INSTALLATION.

Good Crowd Out Despite the Inclement Weather.

Despite the bad storm of Friday night there was a fine attendance at the public installation of officers of Watkins Post, No. 68, G. A. R. The installing was done by the Past Dept. Commander C. T. Hull, of Athens. Mr. Hull gave a very pleasing address in connection with the installation and referred in fitting terms to a number of the fine soldiers whose portraits grace the walls of the meeting room. Among those whom he mentioned were General Madill, Captain Peck and Colonel Watkins.

The officers installed were as follows: Commander, E. J. Ayers; senior vice commander, Elisha Cole; adjutant, J. A. Wilt; quartermaster, A. J. Fisher; surgeon, I. B. Decker; Chaplain, J. H. Chaffee; officer of the day, Charles Harmon; officer of the guard, F. H. Warriner; sergeant major, S. Blaisdell; quartermaster sergeant, W. B. Kelly; delegates to department encampment, J. Andrew Wilt, alternate F. H. Warriner, and J. H. Chaffee, alternate A. J. Fisher. Dallas J. Sweet, elected junior vice commander, was not present at the installation. Music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Bert Bazette cornet, Mr. Cullinan violin, and Miss Louise Felton pianist. Refreshments were served and a most enjoyable time had by all present.

CLEVELAND—WHITNEY.

Quiet Wedding Occurred at Home of Bride Here Yesterday.

John Cicero Cleveland of Towanda, formerly a resident of Orwell township, and Miss Anna Winona Whitney of this place were married yesterday at noon at the bride's home on Second street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. O. A. Houghton in the presence of the immediate relatives only. The couple stood during the ceremony in the bow window of the sitting room. Overhead was an arch of pine boughs with a shower of roses suspended from the center. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine trimmed with real lace.

A wedding breakfast was served immediately after the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland left for a wedding trip southward. Mrs. Cleveland has for some time past conducted a successful and well known dressmaking establishment on Second street while Mr. Cleveland is a retired farmer. Their many friends will extend congratulations and best wishes.

DEATH AT WELLSBORO.

Mrs. Cordelia Hoagland Passed Away on Jan. 4.

Mrs. Cordelia Hoagland, aged 78, the widow of William S. Hoagland, died Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 4 of heart failure at her home in Wellsboro. She had resided in that place about 40 years. She had not been in good health for a month preceding the end, but was able to be out of bed some of the time, even on the day before her death.

The deceased was a daughter of the late James Parsons, of Columbia X Roads, Bradford county. Her marriage to Mr. Hoagland was solemnized more than 50 years ago. They had only one child, a daughter, Louise, the deceased second wife of the late A. P. Cone, Esq., of Wellsboro. Mrs. Hoagland is survived by two brothers, G. S. Parsons, of Cherry Flats, and E. B. Parsons, of Troy, Bradford county. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. Her funeral was held from her late home Friday forenoon. —Wellsboro Advocate.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING AT EAST SMITHFIELD.

Large Number of Interested Persons Attended the Sessions.

In the following report of the farmers' institute at East Smithfield, where the speeches of the instructors are the same as at the Windfall meeting they are either omitted or abbreviated.

The first session of the Farmers' institute at East Smithfield was called to order by chairman E. E. Chubbuck Friday, Jan. 6, at 1:45 p. m. Prayer was offered by Rev. M. MacDonald. Address of welcome by Rev. J. Jones and responded to by Chairman E. E. Chubbuck. L. W. Lighty was then introduced and spoke upon "The Farmer's Cow and How to Make Her Profitable."

J. H. Peachy then spent a half hour with us in the cornfield. Be sure to have the ground properly fitted. Keep the earth light and moist around the young plants. Many questions were asked by the farmers and a general discussion followed. After music by the choir, Dr. I. A. Thayer was introduced and gave a very interesting description of "Tile Draining, How and Why It Is Profitable." Most land in this section could be improved by draining. Make a place for the whole field then begin in a business like manner. Size of tile and depth that it should be placed should depend upon the kind of ground and length of drain.

Evening Session.

The evening meeting was devoted to the Educational questions. After singing by thechoir, J. W. Peachy gave an address "The Farmer's Boy; His Education," bringing out the fact that the three C's, Culture, Character, and Citizenship should be developed in the boy. Miss Chrissie Fraley then recited "Mr. Dooley." Prof. F. W. Gorham was called upon for a few remarks on "The Needs of Our Schools." A duet was then rendered by the Misses Birds, Supt. H. S. Putnam then impressed upon the farmers the need of centralization and showed what might be accomplished in that way. The evening session closed by singing from the choir.

Saturday Morning.

Institute called to order by chairman. After singing Mr. Peachy was again introduced. He gave some very practical suggestions concerning Sail improvement. Dr. Thayer continued along the same line by telling how clover should be best used as a fertilizer. Mr. Lighty then presented a table showing a feed which would produce the best result in the cow. He impressed upon the farmers the importance of a properly balanced ration. After discussing many questions which had been handed the chairman the institute adjourned for the morning.

Saturday Afternoon.

Master Eugene Horton entertained the audience with a recitation. Mr. Lighty told of his experience with silo, showing that the silo is of vital importance on the dairy farm.

Saturday Evening.

The closing session was opened by singing. L. W. Lighty was then introduced. He pictured an ideal farm house which could be had by a little effort.

Miss Louise Horton brought the house to laughter by one of her fine recitations. The closing lecture of the institute was given by Dr. I. A. Thayer an "Home Hygiene," in which he showed how much depends upon proper heating and ventilating of a house. Miss Ina Holcomb then recited "Sister and I." George Campbell of Athens was called upon for a few remarks. The following resolutions was unanimously adopted by the institute:

Resolved, That this institute earnestly urge the members of congress and the honorable senators from this state to use all the honorable means in their power to prevent the repeal or change of the Grout bill. A very large number of farmers were in attendance during the entire institue.

DEATH OF MRS. S. W. POMEROY.

One of the Oldest Residents of Troy Has Passed Away.

Mrs. A. Malvina Pomeroy, wife of the late Samuel W. Pomeroy, died at her home in that borough Monday morning, January 2, 1905.

She was the daughter of Edward and Olive Davison, and was born at Ithaca, N. Y., May 20, 1820. She was the oldest of six children. The others are still living except one sister who died in infancy. They are Mrs. E. S. Jewell, and Mrs. N. M. Pomeroy of Troy, Mrs. B. L. Truman of Owego, N. Y., and Mr. George B. Davison of Utica, N. Y. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Ellen P. Mitchell.

When Mrs. Pomeroy was 12 years of age the family removed to Dryden, N. Y. This was her home until her marriage to Samuel W. Pomeroy, which occurred May 15, 1843. Immediately after her marriage she came to Troy, where nearly all her subsequent life has been spent.

Mrs. Pomeroy had the honor to be a member of the pioneer class of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, and was one of the first to complete the prescribed course of reading and study.

Celebrated Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Fuller of Columbia X Roads entertained a large company of their children and grandchildren on Jan. 1, 1905 on the occasion of their forty-sixth anniversary. About 40 were present. The following committee was appointed for next year: President, C. H. Fuller; secretary, Mrs. Guy Fuller. Mrs. Samuel Fuller, Mrs. Nora Sample and Mrs. Allen served as a table committee.

PATRONIZE YOUR CARRIERS.

One of Them Writes This Paper an Interesting Appeal.

Editors of the Reporter-Journal.

I wish to call the attention of patrons of R. F. D. routes to a few facts which, if complied with, would greatly improve the standing of the routes and make a better showing on the carriers' report.

R. F. D. carriers are required to report to the post office department the number of pieces of mail handled both delivered and collected, the amount of stamps and stamped paper sold, the amount of cancelation on mail collected, the number of applications for money orders, and the number of letters and parcels registered. And, should any route not do a reasonable amount of business the service on such route is discontinued.

Now, patrons, I am sure you do not want the service on your route stopped and there is one way you can help avoid it and that is by patronizing your carriers. Buy your stamps, etc., of him, give him your applications for money orders, register your letters and despatch your mail by him. Don't think he will be mad or say things that wouldn't do to be printed in a Sunday school lesson if he has to stop at your box every day to collect mail. That is just what he likes.

Patrons, Bradford county has been equipped with R. F. D. service ahead of her sister counties and it is your privilege and duty to make her always at the head by full patronizing your carrier.

Now just a word in behalf of the carrier. Remember these are cold days and your carrier has a long drive. If you would have his most grateful blessing, instead of putting pennies into the box with your letters buy a small amount of stmaps ahead and stamp your own letters so he will not have to take his gloves off in collecting them. Please give this a trial and I am sure you will be more than repaid by your carrier's grateful smiles. One of the Carriers.

COLDER THAN PENNSYLVANIA.

Vermont Can Hold Its Own on the Weather.

Some persons are of the opinion that this part of Pennsylvania experiences as severe winters as does Vermont. In this connection, the following record of the weather for 1904, taken from the Londonderry, Vt., Sifter, is interesting: "The coldest morning was Jan. 5th—44 below zero. There were 23 days in January that the mercury was at zero or below; also five days in January that the mercury did not get above zero in all day.

In the two months of January and February there were forty days that the thermometer registered below zero. There have been twelve days this month that the mercury reached zero. It has snowed forty times for a total of 164 inches, the largest at any one time being Nov. 13th, of 14 inches. It has rained 111 days. On March 3 there was a heavy thundershower, hard rain and sharp lightning."

VANHORN—WARNER.

Recent Marriage of Prominent Young People at East Troy.

The marriage of John L. VanHorn and Miss Jennie E. Warner took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Warner, of East Troy, on the evening of Dec. 28, the day being the 29th anniversary of the marriage of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. VanHorn. Rev. J. L. Phoenix, grandfather of the groom, was the officiating clergyman. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Warner was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being red and green.

The nuptial pair were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Vandermark of Athens, Pa. After the wedding a bountiful repast was daintly dserved by several young ladies, members of the bride's Sunday school class, which was enjoyed by about 40 immediate relatives and friends.

LARGEST CIRCULATION.

The Reporter-Journal Printed Over 5,000 Each Week in 1904.

The Reporter-Journal has always been one of the newspapers of "known circulation," and it will be a matter of interest to advertisers to know that the average number of copies printed each week during 1904 was 5,459. No other strictly local weekly county newspaper in the state of Pennsylvania has so large a circulation, according to the latest directory reports.

As this circulation is equivalent to one paper to every two families in Bradford county, it is not at all surprising that The Reporter-Journal is so extensively used by the wise and conservative advertisers at the county seat. It is the one sure way to reach the pepole.

HAD LEG BROKEN.

J. R. Vannoy of East Troy Hurt by Kicking Horse.

Jacob R. Vannoy was brought to Sayre Friday night from East Smithfield, suffering from a compound fracture to the bones of one of his legs, received by being kicked by a horse, and is now being treated at the hospital. His home is in East Troy, and late Friday afternoon he drove to East Smithfield where he was to deliver a lecture at the Farmers' Institute.

He drove his horse to a shed in the rear of the church, and as he passed the animal preparatory to tying, the horse kicked violently, striking Mr. Vannoy's leg midway between the ankle and knee, fracturing both legs. Mr. Vannoy is the well known dairyman and cattle raiser.

MONUMENT CRUMBLING.

Memorial of General Sullivan Shows Ravages of Time and Vandals.

When a statue of General Poor was unveiled at Hackensack on October 7, many persons living about there at once thought of the old and half ruined monument to General Sullivan east of this city.

General Poor was associated with General Sullivan in the Battle of Newtown, and was a brave and capable General. The erection of the large statute at Hackensack snows in what esteem he was held. It seems to many that there is no excuse for further neglecting of the Sullivan's monument. It has stood at the top of the hill for years, but it will not stand there much longer if something is not done at once. For years this has been a favorite place for picnic parties. Fires have been built inside the monument and "patriotic" young people have carried away pieces of the stone of which the monument is built, as souvenirs. As the monument was only built of common field stone, in the first place these ravages have partly demolished it and it is now but the mere shell of its original self. A prominent resident of Lowmanville has agreed to furnish land at the foot of the hill, also stone and cement for a new monument, if the labor will be furnished by other parties or by the county. At the foot of the hill the monument should be protected from storms and if it was put up in good shape it is probable that it would be better treated in the future. Many think the monument should be removed to this city.—Elmira Advertiser.

DOCTORS MET HERE.

Elected Officers for the Ensuing Year and Discussed Matters.

The annual meeting of the Bradford County Medical society was held Tuesday afternoon in the grand jury room of the court house. Besides the physicians from Towanda who were present, there were in attendance Dr. Rice of Rome, Dr. C. L. Stevens of Athens, Dr. F. A. Thompson of Durell, Dr. G. H. B. Terry of Wyalusing and Dr. Hermann of Dushore. Dr. Hermann is also now an honorable having been elected representative from Sullivan county at the November election.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, P. N. Barker of Troy; first vice president, E. N. Shepard of Burlington; second vice president, C. H. Ott of Sayre; secretary, C. M. Woodburn of Towanda; treasurer, F. Chaffee of Towanda; librarian, E. D. Payne of Towanda; reporter, C. M. Woodburn; censors, G. H. B. Terry, S. M. Woodburn of Towanda, M. C. Hunter of Sayre, C. M. Pratt of Towanda and C. L. Stevens.

Dr. C. M. Pratt of Towanda made his address as retiring president and there was some discussion of the proper treatment of persons convicted of the crime of criminal assault. The docters also discussed the needs of a larger approriation for the state board of health.

NEW TERM "LETTA-GO."

Keeps Toes and Hands From Being Smashed.

"Letta-go" is now one of the official orders on the Lehigh. It has become a part of the road's most important vernacular, for it saves the Lehigh's accident reports from a too checkered appearance. It is a sort of pigeon-English that everyone, no matter what his nationality, is supposed to understand. The company employes many foreign laborers under foremen who speak English but in most cases unable to talk to the men must rely upon sign language.

When a gang of men in carrying a heavy weight, such as a rail, and it becomes necessary to drop it, then the "letta-go" comes in play. Until this term was employed if a gang of Italians and Polanders were carrying a rail, the Italian on the end would call the time to drop it in his own language. All the Italians would release their holds and the weight would fall with the Polanders hanging on. Feet, hands and arms were frequently smashed. But the official use of "letta-go" has decreasnd the number of accidents.—Athens News.

BANK ELECTIONS.

Lists of Those Chosen to Serve as Directors for Ensuing Year.

The annual election of directors of the First National bank of this place was held Tuesday afternoon between the hours of 1 and 3 o'clock. The stockholders re-elected the old board of directors as follows: N. N. Betts, William Little, Robert H. Laning, E. F. Kizer, C. S. Russell, T. B. Johnson, C. T. Kirby, J. A. Hill and G. W. Kipp. The board will meet on Monday for organization.

At the Citizens National bank the old board of directors was re-elected as follows: Morris Shepard, William Dittrich, Rush J. Thomson, John M. Rahm, Benj. Kuykendall, Jr., William Maxwell, S. B. Davidge, R. A. Horton and J. K. Newell. The board organized with the re-election of Morris Shepard as president and J. K. Newell cashier.

Both the Towanda banks have had a successful and prosperous year and reflect credit upon the board of directors and the officers controlling the investment of moneys entrusted to their care.

CHARLES LEE DEAD.

Veteran Showman Expired on Sunday at His Home Near Canton.

Charles Lee, the veteran showman, died at his home just east of the borough limits of Canton on Sunday forenoon. For a number of years he had been an invalid, as the result of a partial paralytic stroke. He started on the road with a small wagon show, about 20 years ago, he succeeded in catching on to public favor. About 18 years ago, at the close of his season he drove into Canton, and arranged for wintering his show on the fair grounds. That winter he spent in enlarging his show and the following season proving very prosperous he again returned to Canton for the winter.

After a time he purchased the A. D. Foss farm and built permanent winter quarters, including a fine ring barn. His show was one of the largest wagon shows on the road. His incessant hard work, summer and winter, told on his strength and he broke down. He disposed of his show and has since resided on his farm. He is survived by his wife.

Funeral services were held Wednesday.

CONCERNING SALOONS.

Dr. Cowell Asks Some Searching Questions About Drink.

To the Editor of the Reporter-Journal.

Are the churches, as told, voting for saloons and drink? We are told so. If not so let the churches deny it. I claim that religion is responsible for the desire for saloons and drinking. If a high license is right, is a low tax wrong? If whisky makes men bad and the home lower, is the father or the saloon wrong? Are the taxpayers benefited by the deal? Is love and pride seen in the punishment: Is a chain gang a sight the preachers love to see in front of the parsonage. Who is the guilty party? Is wine as Christ's blood in the sacrament? Is a drink in church a desire for more? Is God a man, or is the man of god his shadow?

I wish some church man would answer my questions. Don't dodge; just say temperance is not in our vote, wife whipping is: A post at the head of the nation is a saloon in the capitol building, or was in the time of the G. A. R. encampment there. Will the Republican party deny both the saloon and the whipping post. I await a reply.

As Governor Pennypacker is somewhat of a delver in ancient history, if anything, it is suggested that he turn his attention to the details of the Spanish inquisition.

Every few days the news reports chronicle deaths of children from eating poisonous drugs that have been carelessly left where they could reach them. Several such instances have occurred in this section within a short time. If any households have such drugs where children may get them, today is the day to remove them.

District Attorney Jerome has decided to retry Nan Patterson. He says that as the jury was so evenly divided he does not feel like taking the responsibility of moving for her discharge. The public wants to know who killed Bookmaker Young. Perhaps a new trial will either convict or clear the girl who was with him at the time.

It will be something of a revelation to the East to find a far western grand jury indicting a mayor and a chief of police for failure to close a gambling house. This is what has occurred in Portland, Ore. If that strenuous example were to be followed generally the chief executives of many more pretentious communities would be kept busy dodging indictments.

A plant for the production of brick, in the manufacture of which sand instead of clay will be used, is to be built at Rochester. This is said to be the first factory of its kind in the United States, and will have the sole right to use the process in New York state. The company will be known as the Rochester Composite Brick company. Homer Knapp, a contractor of Rochester, has been elected president of the company.

The fact that Santiago de Cuba is again a pest spot and the germs of yellow fever are stalking about without hindrance, is a reminder that Cuba needs a powerful hand at the government, says the Binghamton Republican. When Uncle Sam ruled for several years Havana and Santiago were healthful. So soon as the United States troops left, street cleaning was neglected and yellow fever returned. With such conditions in Cuba the island becomes a menace to our Gulf States, and there is a national difficulty in the situation.

Daniel Kehrer, an Eaglesmere merchant, has been almost overcome by a recent deed of honesty. He has been handed the neat sum of $223, $60 principal and the rest interest representing the amount stolen from his trunk 38 years ago. The man who took the money has always meant to pay it back and he has finally done so through a friend. This does not lessen the original sin of taking the money but it does indicate that the man who did it has probably suffered quite a little punishment in mind for his theft.

The following, from the Millerton Advocate, pretty nearly hits the nail on the head, as all newspaper men can attest: "An excellent poem in loving remembrance of Mrs. Clara Harris, who departed this life eight years ago, Dec. 30, 1896, is unavoidably crowded out of our columns by live matter. It is always a pleasure to oblige our readers, but the Advocate's space is limited and must be devoted to current local news. Mrs. Harris is recalled by all as a noble woman, and it is but natural that her descendants should delight in doing honor to her memory, in which were it possible we would be very glad to assist them."

This is what is going to happen in Bradford county some time unless the law is better obeyed: In Carbon county 27 remonstrances have been filed against hotel men in various parts of the county. Ten Philadelphia Law and Order society agents gave evidence against eight applicants in one day. The law and order agents had the evidence and the judge will have little to do but simply turn down the applications. There is too lax enforcement of the liquor law in Bradford county in some places. It is not only wrong to sell on Sunday under the law but it is unfair to those liquor sellers who are obeying the restrictions that the law has placed upon them.

WORKING PRISONERS.

Bradford county works its jail prisoners—only it does not work them hard enough. Many other counties want to follow the example set by Bradford but they cannot seem to get the prison board started on the project. Judge Lynch of Luzerne county is regarded as one of the best criminal judges in the state. He has hundreds of criminal cases coming before him each year and must have a knowledge of the criminal classes. What he says is entitled to respect. He states:

"On an average there are from forty to fifty people confined in the Luzerne county jail. Some for terms of long duration. All this time these strong and able bodied men have nothing to do and when released they have no inclination to work and would prefer returning to a place of confinement.

"It is neither fair to the taxpayers, who pay taxes and support the government or to the prisoners, or to anybody concerned that this should be possible. Those in authority have been notified of this but for some reason nothing has been done."

Judge Lynch's opinion will be heard with interest here. There are some who do not believe in working jail prisoners. When one has visited the jail and seen the good time that the prisoners had under the old regime, playing cards in a warm room with ordinary comfort at hand, the new order where the prisoner must work for his board, is a decidedly wise change.

Following its report concerning graft in the county administration, the grand jury of Potter county has returned fifteen true bills against alleged transgressors. The indictments are: Ten against county Commissioners Sunderlin and Young; and one against auditors, J. M. Glase, Frank Howland and F. A. Brown; one against the commissioners and auditors for conspiracy; one against Thomas Hungeville, bridge agent; one against E. E. Rogers, bridge agent and one against the county commissioners and J. M. Whaley, bridge agent, for conspiracy. There promises to be some paying the fiddler over in Potter.

Sheshequin doesn't like bad meat either. A correspondent from there says: "Several of our down town residents don't like beef as well as they did. They each bought a quarter of a farmer with the supposition that it was healthy stock. After using some they came across a putrid sore of large dimensions. When will a law be enacted that will oblige everyone owning cattle to have them tested or not be allowed to sell the meat or milk? It is time that business was stopped and now is the time to act."

It is now expected that Governor Pennypacker will appoint a Judge to succeed the late Judge Niles in time to preside at the next regular term of Tioga county court which convenes on Monday, Jan. 23. Among the members of the bar who are prominently mentioned as being selected for the bench until the next general election are: Judge David Cameron, S. F. Channell, E. H. Overlett and D. W. Baldwin.

Every Two Minutes

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

TWENTY-FOUR GREAT PROVERBS.

Dr. C. H. Yatman, who is conducting the revival services at the Methodist church, has kindly selected for the men and women of this day, the following proverbs from the Book of Proverbs, where wisdom is found in a nutshell. Proverbs is the "Book of Wisdom" and is a tale quickly told of the wise man and the fool. The proverbs chosen by Dr. Yatman as representing the best in the sacred book are as follows:

1. The wicked flee when no man pursueth; but the righteous are bold as a lion.
2. A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches.
3. A soft answer turneth away wrath; but grevious words stir up anger.
4. Boast not thyself of tomorrow for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.
5. Faithful are the wounds of a friend.
6. Be not wise in thine own eyes; fear the Lord and depart from evil.
7. The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked; but he blesseth the habitation of the just.
8. Keep thy heart with all diligence for out of it are the issues of life.
9. Can a man take fire in his bosom and his clothes not be burned?
10. He that is surety for a stranger shall smart for it.
11. The liberal Soul shall be made fat; and he that watereth shall be watered also himself.
12. There shall no evil happen to the just.
13. He also that is slothful in his work is brother to him that is a great waster.
14. A man that hath friends must show himself friendly; and there is a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.
15. Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue keepeth his soul from troubles.
16. Make no friendship with an angry man.
17. The drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty; and drowsiness shall cloth a man with rags.
18. If thou faint in the day of adversity, thy strength is small.
19. Confidence is an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth and a foot out of joint.
20. A whip for the horse, a bridle for the ass and a rod for the fool's back.
21. Where no wood is there the fire goeth out; so where there is no tale bearer the strife ceaseth.
22. Let another praise thee and not thine own mouth; a stranger and not thine own lips.
23. He that covereth his sins shall not prosper; but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy.
24. As a jewel of gold in a swine's mout, so is a fair woman without discretion.

It is the general belief among state lawyers that Governor Pennypacker's proposed libel act will not only lack a sponsor among the legislators themselves but that it is unconstitutional in many points. John H. Fow, a constitutional expert, says that the first section of the act is clearly in conflict with Section VII, Article I of the constitution; that the second section is even worse than the first, for it proposes that, without a preliminary hearing, proceedings may be commenced in equity for an offense which, both under the common and statute laws, is a criminal offense and does not necessarily create a civil cause of action. Mr. Fow says the fourth section of the bill is also unconstitutional, because it provides for the expenditure of public funds without making any appropriation therefor.

Hon. John P. Elkin has been sworn in as a justice of the State Supreme Court. No one denies that he possesses the qualifications to make an able and even brilliant justice of our highest State court, and the only question is whether he can divest himself of the politician. Judge Elkin is naturally a partisan leader. If he can turn his talents in the right direction he will undoubtedly develop into a jurist of marked success.—Wilkesbarre Record.

WELLER—KING.

Quiet Home Wedding Occurred at Home of Bride in Towanda.

Wednesday, Jan. 4, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orin King, occurred the marriage of their daughter Georgia to Fenton E. Weller of Athens. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Gernant, rector of Christ church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and a few friends. During the ceremony a violin selection was rendered by the sisters of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. King left on train No. 1 for a short trip and on their return will be at home to their friends on Elmira street, Athens. Mr. Weller is a well known Athens young man and holds a responsible position in the Lehigh offices at Sayre. Mrs. Weller is a bright and attractive young woman and a recent graduate of the Towanda High school. The newly married couple will have the best wishes of their many friends.

COAL OPERATIONS.

Susquehanna & New York Getting Coal Near Laquin.

The Susquehanna & New York railroad company has entered into a contract with W. B. Gunton, the coal operator by which the latter is to mine coal at a place about two miles northeast of Laquin A narrow guage road extends to the operations and Mr. Gunton has now about 30 men at work. It is the intention to mine about 100 tons a day at present and later this will be increased to 300 tons.

The coal is of the old Barclay vein and is of good quality. It is used on the engines of the Susquehanna & New York and in the allied industries at Laquin.

JOHNSTON—WILMOT.

Pretty Wedding Celebrated at Wilmot on Dec. 28.

Luther C. Johnston of New Albany and Miss Sadie Jackson of Wilmot were married at the home of the bride's parents at noon on Dec. 28, Rev. W. J. Campbell of Dushore officiating. W. B. Allen of New Albany was groomsman and Miss Grace Jones of Wyalusing bridesmaid.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the ceremony was performed under a large evergreen bell. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston took the evening train at Wyalusing for a short wedding trip.

Church of Christ Scientist.

The annual business meeting of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Towanda, was held in Mercur Hall January 3. Notwithstanding the severe storm, there was a large attendance of Towanda citizens, and a number from abroad. Miss Marion Stephens of New York, founder of the Towanda church, and who has done much of the healing work here was present, and gave a very helpful talk. Others from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Lord, of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moore, of Rome, Leonard Waltman, of Laddsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Struppler and son Paul, of Lestershire, Mrs. L. F. Balley, of Elmira, Mrs. F. C. Weeks, of Rutherford, N. J., Mrs. Robert Milne, of Sayre, Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Van-Loon and daughter of Monroeton, and Mrs. Dorothy Mc Lwain, of Waverly. At the close of the meeting lunch was served to the company, making a very pleasant ending to an enjoyable afternoon for those in attendance.

Got the Money.

Constable Guy C. Hollon had a hard time getting the $19 for Zonzetta McGraw which the actress claims was due her from the "Why Women Sin" company. The manager kept out of Mr. Hollon's way and finally Mr. Hollon told the Susquehanna & New York road that he had an attachment against the company and that the goods should not be shipped until the bill had been paid. Mr. Hollon stayed up until 3 o'clock Thursday morning working on the task of making the collection. Then he went to bed and slept until 6 o'clock when he again began his work. The manager finally came down with the money and the troupe left for Williamsport with all their property. The McGraw woman was much pleased to receive her money and has returned to New York.

Injured at Hughesville.

William Ring suffered a very painful accident recently at Hughesville, while the extra freight crew were making up their train. In pulling a car out of the siding he slipped and fell the pole striking him on the head. He was carried home in a semi-conscious condition.

Newsboy Was Hurt.

William Brooks, aged 16 years, a Danville newsboy jumped on a Bloomsburg division passenger train to sell papers, and while he was alighting, after the train had started, he fell under the wheels and his right leg was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

JUDGE'S SALARY IN BRADFORD COUNTY $5,000.

That Compensation Given Under New Salary Act.

The decision of the supreme court affirming the constitutionality of the judges' salary act will mean an increase of $1,000 in the salary of judge Adelbert C. Fanning of Bradford county, making his compensation $5,000 a year. As the act went into effect the first of January 1904, Judge Fanning will have a nice New Year's gift of back pay.

The first movement to increase the salaries of the judges of the commonwealth was begun during the 1901 session of the legislature. The bill failed to pass and it was again introduced during the session 1903.

At the begining it was found difficult to secure sufficient votes to pass the measure, but after provisions had been made in it to take in all the judicial districts of the state having a population of 90,000 and give the judges in them $6,000 the bill was passed without much opposition.

It is then asserted that the bill was unconstitutional because it provided for increasing the salaries of men while in office Considerable litigation followed and the measure finally reached the supreme court which tribunal affirmed its constitutionality on December 31. Foremost in the fight to test the constitutionality of the measure was attorney Newlin of Philadelphia, who was a member of the convention that framed the new constitution of the state.

The new law cuts out the extra money that judges made in holding court in districts outside their own. Under the other law a judge who held court in another district received $10 a day and mileage. The new law contains the following provisions in this connection: "No judge of the said courts shall receive any compensation for official services rendered, other than the salary fixed by this act, not except mileage and actual expenses incurred when holding court outside the district for which he is commissioned."

The new salary act provides a salary of $10,500 for the chief justice of the supreme court and $10,000 for each of the associated judges; a salary of $9,000 for each of the judges of the superior court and a salary of $8,500 for the judges in Philadelphia and Alleghany counties.

It is believed that the increase in judges' salaries will have a tendency to increase the strife for places on the bench.

SCOUTEN REINSTATED.

Regains Full Privileges as Attorney in Sullivan County.

John G. Scouten of Dushore has been reinstated to full privileges as an attorney in Sullivan county. This was the first business to come before the new judge, Hon. Charles Terry. Associate Judges Myers and Reeser also coincided in the decree.

Mr. Scouten's friends are jubilant. When the news of his reinstatement reached Bernice a public demonstration was indulged in.

Handsome Piece of Work.

Justice J. H. Orcutt, whose hand is far from losing its cunning, has just completed and presented to Naiad Hose, No. 2 a cribbage board that is a beautiful specimen of good work. The body of the board is a variety of mahogany, the division lines and border lines of lignum vitae and white holly, and the words "Naiad No. 2," are inlaid with white holly. The border is of black walnut lined with inlays of lignum vitae. On the bottom is a receptable with a spring cover to hold the pins. The 'Squire is also capable of showing the Naiads how to use his gift to the best advantage.

Death of Mrs. Mulcahy.

Mrs. Michael Mulcahy of Powell died Friday morning at her home in that place of pneumonia, aged 40 years. She leaves a husband and six children, besides three sisters and four brothers. She was the daughter of Ross Hollenback of Highland. Funeral services were held at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul at this place on Monday morning at 10 o'clock; interment in Catholic cemetery.

Harney—Hinds.

Judson E. Harney, a popular young attorney of Dushore, was on Wednesday, Dec. 21, united in marriage with Miss Nan B. Hinds, daughter of Sheriff E. S. Hinds of Tunkhannock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. M. Wilbur of that place at the bride's home. Mr. Harney has many friends in Towanda where he was a student at the Susquehanna Collegiate Institute.

Strayed From Parents.

BOOKLET OF TOWANDA.

Tasty Pamphlet Gotten Out by Business Men's Association.

The Towanda Business Men's association has just received an edition of 2,000 copies of a twenty-four page and cover booklet. Ten copies of the booklet were given each member of the association and the remainder of the 2,000 will be sold and distributed as requests from outside parties come to the association. The sale of the booklet, however, is only a secondary object as the purpose is to place the booklets where they will do the most good.

The booklet has eleven pages of reading matter and 13 of views. The reading matter includes a list of officers, committees and members of the association with their business occupation, a writeup of the location, population, water supply, government, schools, public buildings, public library, commercial advantages, and incidents of Towanda's history with a list of societies, church organizations, industries, and other special points about Towanda.

The views include a birds-eye view of Towanda, illustrations of residences, factories, street scenes, churches, public buildings, schools, and a full page view of the Bradford county court house. There are many views which might have been placed in the book had not the expense of a larger booklet not have been too great. The committee endeavored to get out as comprehensive a booklet as was compatible with the money to be expended.

This booklet is intended chiefly for the attraction of business houses and factories. In the Spring another booklet will be issued containing some of the many fine views hereabouts which will be sent out for the purpose of attracting summer boarders, a scheme which the association believes can be successfully worked in Towanda if a few years' time is expended on it.

The special photographs from which the half tones were made were taken by Ott & Hay of Towanda. The grouping of the pictures and their ornamentation and the half tones themselves were made by the Telegram company of Elmira. The press work is by the Chemung Printing company of Elmira.

SUES WYOMING COUNTY.

Attorney Keeler Presses Claim in Connection with State Bridge.

Attorney Asa S. Keeler has entered suit against the Wyoming county commissioners for remuneration for his services in connection with the state bridge. The amount of his claim is not stated, but along with it is an item of $200 which he alleges is due to Senator John E. Fox, of Harrisburg, for assistance in the matter.

It will be remembered that at one time Mr. Keeler, as deputy county treasurer, drew himself a check for $1600 to cover his claim, but when the matter was brought before the county auditors and referred to the county commissioners, the latter disavowed the claim, alleging that they had never given Mr. Keeler any warrant for the payment. After wrangling over the matter for a year or more, Mr. Keeler finally returned the money to the treasury.

The reply of the commissioners to Mr. Keeler's suit has not yet been made public, but it is probable that they will view it in a different light from that in which he sees it. The court will have opportunity to decide between them—Tunkhannock Republican.

CANDIDATES FOR SHERIFF.

Number of Men in the Field for Republican Nomination.

The Republican contest for the nomination for sheriff promises to develop some very interesting politics. The latest candidate to announce himself is John W. Codding, ex-chairman of the Republican county committee.

The other candidates who have announced themselves are John H. Dean and G. M. Clark of Towanda, George M. Gilbert of Franklindale, John A. Ruggles and N. V. Weller of Athens.

Death of Mrs. Mary A. Moody.

Mrs. Mary Ann Moody, widow of Ulysses Moody of Asylum, died Friday morning, aged 90 years. The infirmities of her advanced age made it impossible to throw off the effects of a heavy cold. Mrs. Moody was the daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah Terry, pioneers in that section.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the church at Frenchtown.

SUSQUEHANNA & NEW YORK TO BUILD EXTENSION.

Will Construct Road to Within Three Miles of Williamsport.

The Susquehanna & New York railroad, having its present terminals at Towanda and Gray's Run, has decided to extend its line from the latter place to Newberry Junction, three miles from Williamsport. Here it will connect with the New York Central road and it is expected that it will run over that road's tracks into Williamsport. The extension will mean the construction of about 18 miles of road. The engineer corps of the road are now at work on the plans for the extension. It will be built on the west branch of Lycoming creek.

A news dispatch from Susquehanna, Pa., indicates that the Susquehanna & New York has not entirely abandoned its plans of extending its line eastward to Binghamton. In fact a mortgage against the road was filed in Susquehanna county recently for $2,500,000 for the purpose of building a line from Towanda to Binghamton, by way of Little Meadows in Susquehanna county. It could not be ascertained here exactly what the filing of the mortgage meant.

The Susquehanna & New York, when it bought out the old Barclay railroad, bought out its survey to Binghamton. During the first days of the new road the extension of its line to Binghamton was most actively talked about and was without a doubt under serious consideration by the officials of that road. The survey which it has after leaving Towanda, goes up the east bank of the Wysox creek near Allis Hollow, Potterville and Neath.

If the S. & N. Y., is going to build the line to Binghamton it seems that the amount of the mortgage might be inadequate to build it and to construct a big bridge over the Susquehanna and acquire a right of way in the city of Binghamton. This, however, could be avoided by going in over the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western road. There are now three roads talking of Binghamton as the eastern terminals of their lines, the Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern of which F. A. Sawyer of this place is president, the Susquehanna & New York, and the New York, Pennsylvania & Southwestern.

Will Not Rebuild.

The Auditorium, which was destroyed in the big Lyceum theatre fire at Elmira last March, and in which a number of Towanda gentlemen are interested, will not be rebuilt as a theatre. Instead it will be remodelled into a spacious hall for dancing parties, big fairs and for lectures. Dressing rooms will be handsomely fitted up and a kitchen with first class appointments installed. The Towanda men interested in the enterprise are E. L. Smith, U. M. Fell, General J. A. Hill and E. F. Kizer.

Boy Bitten By a Dog.

A few days ago Clinton, the 13 year-old son of DeWitt Schultz of New Albany, was severely bitten in the face by the family dog. The boy had fed the cat and the dog drove her away and was appropriating the food when the boy interfered. The dog sprang at the boy and tore his face in a frightful manner. Dr. Harshberger dressed and cauterized the wound which required eleven stitches to close.—New Albany Mirror.

Ask for It.

If you want trade, ask for it. Tell people what you have to sell, and give them reasons why they should buy from you, rather than from the "other fellow." The most effective and far-reaching method of asking for trade is by advertising.

DEATH OF MRS. KUYKENDALL.

Died on the Anniversary of Her Birth. A Highly Respected Woman.

Mrs. Benjamin Kuykendall, Sr., died on Friday morning at 5 o'clock at the home of A. McMorran on North Main street where Mrs. Kuykendall and her husband had been boarding since their recent return from Chicago. While she had been in poor health for some time past, her death came as a great shock to many. Her death occurred on the seventy-second anniversary of her birth. The immediate cause of her demise was heart failure.

Mrs. Kuykendall's maiden name was Pamela Ann Gardner. She was born in Windham township on Jan. 6, 1833 and was married to Mr. Kuykendall on March 9, 1853. Eight children were born to the couple of whom the following survive: Mrs. John H. Dean, Mrs. George A. Dayton, and Benjamin Kuykendall, Esq., of Towanda, Mrs. Benson Landon and Paul Kuykendall of Chicago.

Mrs. Kuykendall was a woman universally liked by reason of a very pleasing disposition and fine character. Her death will be greatly mourned by her relatives and many friends. Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. A. Dayton, on North Main street.

The services were largely attended, Dr. O. A. Houghton, pastor of the Methodist church of which the deceased had been a member for 33 years, officiated. Interment was made in Oak Hill.

Up to Date School Methods.

Percy Lang, the Waverly banker, is now a member of the school board of that village. One of his first acts as a school director was to introduce a resolution providing that the eyes of all pupils in the schools should be tested. The resolution was adopted, too. He then announced that he proposed to institute further reforms laton, among them individual drinking cups for the pupils, and the teaching of breathing exercises. He has also offered a scholarship medal to be known as the "Lang Memorial Medal."

Another Vicious Dog.

Lee, the oldest son of J. H. Howe, of the Elkhorn, while on his way to school, a few days ago, was badly bitten on the arm by Tabor Colegrove's large dog, which tore a gash three or four inches long, and so deep that the muscles could be plainly seen. This same dog bit Mr. Howe's younger son was about a year ago, and in our opinion should have been killed at that time, or perhaps a little earlier.—Tioga Argus.

DEATH OF G. H. DUNHAM.

Former Resident of Warren and Fassets Died at Elmira.

George H. Dunham, a well known resident of Elmira died at his home, Sunday morning, death being due to pneumonia. The deceased, who was born in Warren, Bradford county, Pa., September 23, 1837, was a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted in Elmira in June, 1861, as a sergeant in Company E, Eighty-sixth regiment, New York Volunteeers. He served with great credit in the campaigns in which his regiment participated, being severely wounded in the second battle of Bull Run. At that time a bullet entered his left shoulder and was never removed, Mr. Dunham lying on the battlefield for five days without medical treatment. His injuries were such that he was honorably discharged in February, 1863, and he returned to his home at Fassetts, Pa.

The following year he was married to Miss Emily Gillett, eldest daughter of the late Hon. John F. Gillett, who survives him. There also survive two sons, Don A. and Charles W., both of Elmira, three brothers, Joseph E., of Marion, Kan., William H., of Eldon, Ia., and Jared A., of Walla Walla, Wash., and two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Young, of Marion, Kan., and Miss Mary M. Dunham, of Colorado. Mr. Dunham was a kind husband and father and in his dealings with his fellow men upright and conscientious. He was well liked by all who knew him and to his wife and family are extended the sympathy of his many friends. The funeral services will be held from the house at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

MEETING OF STOCKMEN.

State Live Stock Breeders' Association at Harrisburg.

The sixth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Live Stock Breeders' association at Harrisburg Jan. 25-26 will bring before the stockmen of the state an array of talent such as is seldom found in one meeting. Horse topics will be discussed by Dr. Geo. M. Rommel, Specialist of the U. S. depot of agriculture, and Prof. Thos. F. Hunt, of Cornell, both high authorities. Dr. Rommel deals with light horses and Prof. Hunt with draft horses. Illinois furnishes the swine expert in the person of Hon. A. J. Lovejoy, the veteran breeder and showman.

BABY'S FACE
MASS OF SORES

Ears Looked as if They Would Drop Off—Body Entirely Covered with Humor—Three Doctors Could Not Cure—Child Grew Worse.

CURED BY CUTICURA IN TWO WEEKS

Mrs. George J. Steese, of 701 Coburn St., Akron, Ohio, tells in the following letter of another of those remarkable cures of torturing, disfiguring skin humors daily made by Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, after physicians, and all else had failed: "I feel it my duty to parents of other poor suffering babies to tell you what Cuticura has done for my little daughter. She broke out all over her body with a humor, and we used everything recommended, but without results. I called in three doctors, they all claimed they could help her, but she continued to grow worse. Her body was a mass of sores, and her little face was eaten away, her ears looked as if they would drop off. Neighbors advised me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and before I had used half of the cake of soap and box of ointment the sores had all healed, and my little one's face and body was as clear as a new-born babe's. I would not be without it again if it cost five dollars, instead of seventy-five cents, which is all it cost us to cure our baby, after spending many dollars on doctors and medicines without any benefit whatever."

NEW BURGLAR PROOF SAFE.

First National Bank Installs Fine One in Vault Here.

As bank robbers and safe crackers have kept apace with the safe manufacturers, safes supposed to be burglar proof a few years ago have had to be superseded by improved ones. The First National bank of Towanda has just installed an additional burglar-proof safe. It weighs between 5,000 and 6,000 pounds and has the very latest construction and devices to insure protection against burglars. It is called the national cannon-breach screw door safe and is manufactured by the National Safe and Lock company of Cleveland. A. W. Drake of Cambridge Springs, Pa., the general agent, was here to superintend the installation.

The safe is made of solid Patoneen steel. It has a solid door, four inches in thickness and is ground liquid proof. This is one of the greatest things in safe construction as it renders impossible wedging the steel and inserting such liquids as nitro-glycerine. It is equipped with Yale & Towne's best tripie time lock and their guaranteed automatic locking device. The entire door with time lock device nearly a foot in thickness.

The safe is very compact and has been placed inside the vault at the bank. This gives double protection to money and valuables in the keeping of the institution. Besides its useful features in the way of protection the safe is a fine specimen of workmanship and is an excellent advertisement for its manufacturers.

OVERCOME BY SMOKE.

Aged John Coleman Was Trying to Save Papers in Burning House.

Fire broke out Wednesday at noon in the wood work back of the chimney in the house on Pine street occupied by Frank Coleman and his father, John Coleman. Mr. Coleman, who is an elderly man, went in the bedroom over the kitchen to get his insurance papers and became overcome by smoke. He managed to get to the window where he fell out and lay helpless on the roof of a porch.

A bystander saw his predicament and jumping up, seized the man's feet and pulled him down to the ground. The fire did little damage only burning a strip along the chimney inside and out. The bedroom over the kitchen and the kitchen were soaked with water before the flames were out.

List of Jurors.

The list of traverse jurors for this week's adjourned common pleas court is as follows: John Albert, Athens; Williard A. Brown, Springfield; John B. Bailey, South Waverly; Diton Brace, Springfield; John G. Burns, Litchfield; Rowland Crandall, Pike; Raymond W. Cobb, Pike; John Chandler, Tuscoraro; Charles D. Derrah, Canton; Michael Devine, North Towanda; William H. Elliott, Wyalusing; J. J. Eliers, Sayre; Richard Fox, Terry; John Fitzgerald, Towanda; P. T. Frawley, Towanda; Patrick Gorman, Wells; Robert Hannifin, Orwell; Daniel Huff, Granville; Charles L. Harris, Athens; F. N. Hubbard, Springfield; G. H. Horton, Wilmot; S. H. Jewell, Canton; John J. Keefe, Athens; T. J. Morris, LeRaysville; James McKean, Troy; C. W. Mitchell, Troy; Solomon Minier, Athens; A. B. Moore, Columbia; Leslie Pratt, LeRaysville; J. M. Smiley, Canton; Monroe Swartwood, West Burlington; W. M. Snyder, Sheshequin; F. P. Shelton, Windham; L. B. Swartwood, South Creek; Corwyn Titus, Wyalusing; H. N. Varney, Wells; R. C. Vansyskel, Troy; Thurston Van-Loon, Monroe; Daniel Vanderpool, Terry; Joseph Waldron, Smithfield.

Famous Case Continued.

The case of A. D. Wales of Binghamton against John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America for $200,000 for settling the anthracite coal strike, was put over the term in supreme court in New York state with consent of both parties. It was announced that Mr. Wales was unable to serve subpoenas on several witnesses whom he wanted.

Maney Wants Money.

T. P. Maney, the contractor, wants his money for the work on the Sayre school building which he erected. His bill is for $10,000 but the school board said that it had no legal knowledge that the building had been erected and referred Mr. Maney to the board's attorney, I. N. Evans, Esq.

SCHOOLS OLD AND NEW

Bradford County Schools as Found by First Superintendent

INTERESTING COMPARISONS.

Emanuel Guyer, in His Report for the Year 1856, Was Not Inclined to Gloss Over the Faults of the Local Schools or the People.

Bradford county people pride themselves upon their splendid public schools, and justly so. They are the result of years of earnest effort on the part of many men and women who have had the welfare of the children at heart. Perhaps no man having to do with the schools of the county was more in earnest or saw more clearly the needs and final destiny of the common schools than Emanuel Guwer, the first superintendent of the schools of Bradford county. A comparison of his report for the year ending June 2, 1856, with present conditions shows some interesting facts.

Forty-eight years ago there were almost 2,000 more pupils in the public school of the county than there are today, despite the great increase in population; the average attendance in those days was over 2,000 more than at present. Those were the days of large schools, and the "big" scholars were indeed big young men and women of 20 years and over. Now a days it would be a hard matter to find a pupil in a country school over the age of 16 or 17 years. In the borough high schools they have graduated at 18 years.

In 1856 there were 331 schools in the county, nearly every one of them described as poor buildings and some of them mere hovels, with a school term ranging from four to eight months. The average tax levied for school purposes was ten mills on the dollar, ranging from three to 13 mills in the different townships. At present there are in the county 386 school houses, with 505 rooms. In these are employed 496 teachers. Of these last year 92 were males and 404 females. Under the new law they are now receiving a mininumin salary of $35 per month, the term running from seven to nine months each.

Some Comparisons.

In Superintendent Guyer's time there were 452 teachers available, of which 304 were females and 148 males. Their wages averaged $9.25 and $18.87 per month, respectively. There were 14,067 pupils in the county, with an average school attendance of 11,367. The present seating capacity of the schools of the county is 17,874, which is far in advance of the needs of the 12,962 pupils, with an average attendance of 9,351. In 1856 it cost 36 cents per month per pupil for instruction. They were taught the "three R's" and not much else, although in Litchfield township 15 were studying German. Today the average cost per pupil per month is $1.42.

The cost of public instruction in Bradford county in 1856 was $15,760.41; the total amount of school tax levied was $23,354.04. Last year there was raised for the schools of the county, including the state appropriation of $67,578.26, the sum of $207,333.48. Out of this the teachers received $118,637.76, and the total expenditures for the maintanance of the schools was $195,676. 25.

Superintendent Guyer's Report.

Emanuel Guyer, the first superintendent of public schools in Bradford county under the common school law passed pril 1, 1834, lived at Highland, on the Plank road a few miles west of Towanda; his term of office was from 1854 to 1857. His report for the year ending 1856 is a quaint document, dealing rather with cause and effect than statistics and full of good suggestions for betterment. It covers 16 large and closely printed pages and takes up each district in detail.

Albany township had eight schools, with a ten mill tax, yet the sum was barely sufficient to maintain the average of four months in a year. Six of the eight buildings were described as "hovels."

Armenia township had four schools, and the tax of ten mills raised but a trifle over $100 available school money.

The people of Asylum were declared to be friendly to education yet the ten and a half schools maintained were declared to be in a low state.

Good School at Luthers Mills.

Luthers Mills now has a fine graded school, and 48 years ago the community likewise stood well up in the educational ranks. Mr. Guyer says: "The school house at Luthers Mills is a fine building, and reflects credit on the neighborhood. As good a one is going up at Mountain Lake."

Canton township had 15 schools. "The teachers as a class are respectable. Not so the school houses. They are generally old buildings and barely passable."

The taxpayers of Durell objected to being levied upon for schools, although four of the eight in the district were reported good. "The standard of the Durell complainers for teachers' wages is girls' wages for doing housework. This varied formerly from 50 to 75 cents per week; now from one to two dollars."

"In common school matters Granville township stands among the first. The cause of education is popular here, and good teachers are appreciated. The school tax is 11 mills on the dollar and the taxpayers appear to pay it willingly."

Monroeton borough had but recently been formed into a school district and an 18 mill tax was levied. Monroe township was declared a dull spot in educational matters. Orwell township, then as now, was declared to be above the average in school matters.

Spirit of the Pioneers.

Of Overton township Mr. Guyer's report says in part: "Overton township is new and poor in phyhical wealth, but rich in good will and abundant in generous acts to the common school. Education needs no better friends than those sustaining the enterprise in Overton. They pay 13 mills tax and declare a willingness to pay 26 if the 13 will not keep up their schools. Who wants better school men: In a small log school house 16 feet square, I found a living, working teacher, furnishing the intellection, making ornaments for society, and genius for the state, where the rags of poverty are more abundant than the trinketry of the rich."

Pike township was described as hilly and handsome but hateful in school matters. A three mill tax was grudgingly paid.

Ridgebury township, with a large territory and 12 schools, raised nearly $900 on a ten mills tax. Rome raised but $500 to support 11 schools. In Sheshequin the schools received a meagre support, the tax of three mills being grudgingly paid by many.

One Cause of Objection.

Smithfield township, the home of the first graded school in the county outside the boroughs, had an ill repute in 1856 in educational matters. Said Mr. Guyer: "The school system is probably in worse repute in this district than in any other in the county; and it is a little singular, too, for generally it is a reading community. But I find that the oldest and richest townships object to the school law, and mainly for this reason: The first settlers are still living; they hold most of the preperty, and a controlling interest among the people. Hard work and hard fare was their lot for a long time. They out-worked and out-lived these and the state gave their children no aid in their education. The parents now object to a tax on the property they earned so dearly."

Springfield had 14 schools and levied four mills, barely enough to keep four months schools.

Standing Stone township a good agricultural section, was affected with anti-school sentiments. South Creek had five and a half schools and raised over $700 for their support.

Towanda township had three school houses but no school of any kind the previous winter.

Of the nine school houses in Troy township three were described as "the worst kind of hovels. In one of these last winter the teacher was obliged to take care of babies while mothers went visiting."

Worst in the County.

Of one school in Athens township Mr. Guyer says it is the worst in the county. "I pity the teacher and children who meet there. A humane man provides a better shelter for his sheep. Should say the model of this house was a canal shanty, but it is a bad imitation.

It has taken many years of earnest effort on the part of friends of education, coupled with the gradual increase in material prosperity and the continually advancing standards of living among the people to bring the public schools of Bradford county to their present high state of efficiency. But who will say that it has not been time, effort and money well employed?

DEATH OF MRS J. G. LYNCH.

Passed Away Suddenly at Syracuse on Tuesday Night.

Mrs. John G. Lynch died on Tuesday evening of last week at 8 o'clock at Syracuse of heart trouble after a week's illness. Her death was not expected, however, and will come as a great surprise to her many friends in Towanda where she spent her girlhood and had often visited since her marriage to Mr. Lynch. The deceased was the possessor of unusual intelligence and had often contributed to magazines and periodicals. She was a bright and attractive woman.

She was the youngest daughter of the late James M. Ward and was 35 years of age. Her mother died a year ago the fifteenth of this month. Besides the husband Mrs. Lynch is survived by one daughter, two sisters, Mrs. R. A. Mercur of this place and Mrs. Foster Milliken of New York city, and two brothers, E. Overton Ward and Thomas C. Ward of Baltimore. The body was brought here Thursday and the funeral conducted Friday from the home of R. A. Mercur, Esq.. Interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Court Proceedings.

The jury in the case of Commonwealth vs. Horace Vanderpool, who is charged with larceny. Monday afternoon rendered a verdict of not guilty. The Dalton forgery cases were taken up.

Ella M. Lane vs. Sayre Land company; rule for new trial discharged.

Big Lewis, the Italian charged with selling liquor at Laquin without a license, was yesterday admitted to bail.

A nolle prosequi was entered in the case of George Hartz of Sayre, charged with larceny by the Lehigh Valley railroad company. The case was setted out of court.

Lost Right Hand.

While Morgan Evans, 21 yeras old, was working on one of the wringers for squeezing the moisture out of the hides in the Blossburg tannery, he lost his right hand. His hand was caught between the rollers and terribly crushed. Evans was taken to the Cottage Hospital, and Drs. H. E. Caldwell and G. D. Crandall amputated the hand at the wrist. About a year ago a Polander, while operating one of the wringers in the same tannery, lost his left hand.
